

Press release

AYRO receives the EVOLEN 2021 Innovation Price

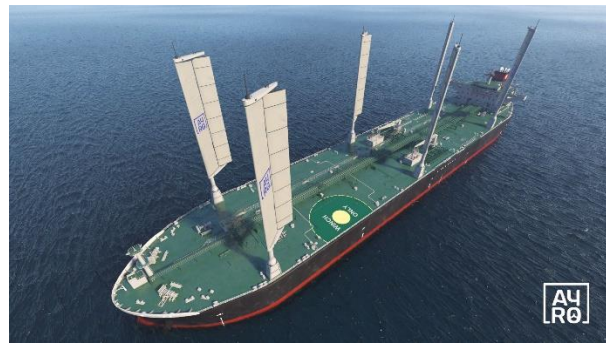

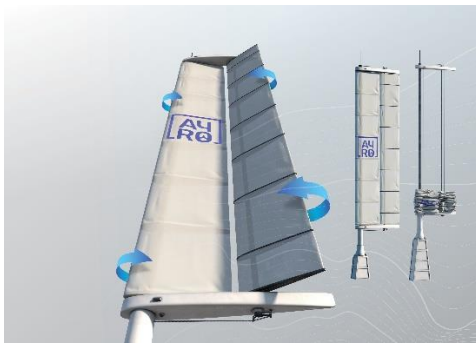

Paris, October 13th 2021 (10:00 CET)

AYRO, a French company that designs, manufactures and sells an automated and lowerable wingsail called Oceanwings®, has been awarded on October 12th with the “EVOLEN 2021” Innovation price.

EVOLEN is a French association for companies and professionals serving the energy industry that encourages and promotes innovation – support projects and start-ups since 1998 with the EVOLEN Innovation price. This year, the award was handed over during the EVOLEN Annual Days on October 12th.

“This price awarded to AYRO reflects the interest generated by the Oceanwings® and its value in supporting all maritime stakeholders with the environmental challenges while participating in improving their service and profitability.

This price brings an additional motivation to the AYRO team but also strengthen our ties with EVOLEN members” says Marc Van Peteghem, co-founder and Chairman of AYRO.

About AYRO

AYRO is a French company that designs, manufactures and sells the wings Oceanwings® to be installed on cargo vessels and yachts, enabling reduction of CO2 emissions by reducing fossil energy consumption.

For more information, please visit our website: <https://ayro.fr/>

Contacts

Corporate Communications: communication@ayro.fr

Investor Relations: investors@ayro.fr

About EVOLEN

EVOLEN is a French association for companies and professionals serving the energy industry. In a multi-energy world, support Oil, Gas and New Energies actors in developing responsible, sustainable and economical solutions to promote access to energy for all and accelerate the energy transition. EVOLEN encourages and promotes innovation – support projects as well as commercial development of its 250 members companies.

For more information, please visit our website: <https://www.evolen.org/>

Contacts

Sylvie Le Brun, Director of Communication and Institutional Relations : s.lebrun@evolen.org